ABSTRACT

Aspects of performing search transitions in a DVD system are described. The aspects include calculating an instantaneous frame rate, adjusting a timestamp of a frame based on the calculated instantaneous, and displaying the frame according to the adjusted timestamp.

5